Important information regarding the Programme Regulations

About this document

Last revised: 05 March 2024

As a student registered with the University of London you are governed by the current General Regulations and Programme Regulations associated with your programme of study.

These Programme Regulations are designed and developed by the University of London which is responsible for the academic direction of the programme. The Programme Regulations will provide the detailed rules and guidance for your programme of study.

In addition to the Programme Regulations you will have to abide by the General Regulations. These regulations apply to all students registered for a programme of study with the University of London and provide the rules governing registration and assessment on all programmes; they also indicate what you may expect on completion of your programme of study and how you may pursue a complaint, should that be necessary. Programme Regulations should be read in conjunction with the General Regulations.

The relevant General Regulations and the Programme Regulations relating to your registration with us are for the current year and not the year in which you initially registered. On all matters where the regulations are to be interpreted, or are silent, our decision will be final.

Further information about your programme of study is outlined in the Programme Specification which is available on the relevant Courses page of the website. The Programme Specification gives a broad overview of the structure and content of the programme as well as the learning outcomes students will achieve as they progress.

Terminology

The following language is specific to the programmes offered under these regulations:

Module: Individual units of the programme are called modules. Each module is a self-contained, formally structured learning experience with a coherent and explicit set of learning outcomes. The extent to which these are achieved is measured by the programme assessment criteria.

Throughout the Regulations, 'we' 'us' and 'our' mean the University of London; 'you' and 'your' mean the student, or where applicable, all students.

If you have a query about any of the programme information provided, please contact us. You can use the Ask a question tab in the student portal or contact the Divinity Programme Team on divinity@london.ac.uk

Changes to Divinity Programme Regulations 2024–2025

Programme Regulations are reviewed annually and revised if necessary. Where there are changes which may impact continuing students, these are listed below.

- The programme structure of the Bachelor of Divinity, Diploma of Higher Education in Divinity and the Certificate of Higher Education in Divinity have all changed to allow for additional optionality at FHEQ Level 4. Reading the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament (Level 4) [DT1001] and Reading the New Testament (Level 4) [DT1002] are now optional rather than compulsory. This is to allow more choice for students whose Date of Registration is 2019 and later, without detriment to modules already on the student record. Please refer to Appendix A for more information.
- In order to complete within your maximum period of registration, you should normally register for at least 60 credits per academic year. This does not apply to students registered to study an individual module.
- A new elective module: Introduction to Judaism [DT1160], is included in the structure at level 4. It is intended that this will run for the first time in 2025-26.
- Students wishing to enter the programme via the performance-based entry route can now do so by registering for and passing any level 4 module.
- For all modules with participation-based assessment, students are required to complete five of the ten online discussion tasks for each module to pass the assessment element.
- For all modules, except for Biblical Hebrew: Language and texts [DT2002-03], New Testament Greek: Language and texts [DT2003], Texts in Hebrew [DT3001] and the Dissertation, the examination duration is extended from 90 to 120 minutes.
- For Biblical Hebrew: Language and texts [DT2002-03], New Testament Greek: Language and texts [DT2003], and Texts in Hebrew [DT3001], the examination duration is extended from 180 minutes to 240 minutes.

See Regulations 6.15 to 6.17 for details about progression from individual module/s.

1.6

You may apply to register for a module not currently listed in Appendix C on a stand-alone basis following consultation with the Programme Team. These applications will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

2 Registration

Effective date of registration

2.1

Your effective date of registration will be 30 September in the year that you initially registered.

2.2

The programme has one study session per year, beginning on the first Monday of October.

Period of registration

See the Programme Specification for the minimum and maximum periods of registration applicable to these programmes.

Refer to the General Regulations for details about continuation of registration.

2.3

If you transfer from the CertHE Divinity to the DipHE Divinity or BD; or from the DipHE Divinity to the BD, your maximum period of registration will be calculated from the date you initially registered under these regulations.

2.4

If you do not transfer between qualifications, you will retain the maximum period of registration in place when you initially registered on the programme.

Module selection

2.5

In each academic year, you may register for up to five modules, in either a combination of new modules and resits (with a maximum of four new modules) or resits only.

2.6

You must keep to the prerequisites, exclusions and other rules that apply for the modules you study.

2.7

In order to complete within your maximum period of registration, you should normally register for at least 60 credits per academic year. This does not apply to students registered to study an individual module.

3 Recognition of prior learning and credit transfer

To be read in conjunction with the General Regulations, Section 3.

Recognition of prior learning

3.1

If you are applying to register on the BD programme, you may apply for recognition of prior learning for up to four modules at Level 4.

3.2

RPL may be granted for History of Christianity [DT2001-03], only where this is counted as an alternative to Introduction to Islam [DT1155] at Level 4. We do not recognise or accredit prior learning for any other modules at FHEQ Level 5 or 6.

3.3

We do not normally recognise prior learning completed more than five years before your registration on this programme.

3.4

We do not recognise or accredit prior learning for the DipHE or CertHE programmes.

Applications for recognition of prior learning should be made through the application form, as part of the overall application process. More information can be found on our website.

4 Assessment for the programme

Assessment methods

See General Regulations rules for taking written examinations.

4.1

Modules are summatively assessed by means of up to three elements: a participation-based element (for all modules except the Dissertation module), coursework (for most modules), and an examination (for all modules except the Dissertation module). Your module mark will be based on a weighted average of all summative assessment elements.

Refer to Appendix D for details of the assessment for each module and the relative weightings for each module.

Refer to the VLE for submission deadlines.

Refer to our website for information on the submission of mitigating circumstances.

4.2

The pass mark for any given module is 40%. For modules assessed by more than one element, you must achieve a weighted mean mark of 40% across the elements of assessment.

Participation-based assessment

4.3

For the participation-based element of assessment, you must complete at least five of the ten online discussion tasks for each module (excluding the Dissertation module) for which you are registered. The tasks will be pass/fail, with a fail incurring a mark of zero. If you pass this task it will be awarded 100% of the available marks, weighted at 5% of the module marks.

See the Assessment Criteria in Appendix E for further details.

The Dissertation module

4.4

The Dissertation module is assessed by means of an 8,000-10,000-word Dissertation.

The Dissertation proposal, drafts and final version should be submitted in accordance with the procedures and deadlines set out on the Dissertation module page on the VLE.

Penalty for missing a deadline – Coursework

4.5

You are responsible for submitting your coursework to us, and for ensuring that your work is submitted on or before the deadline for that module.

Two marks will be deducted per day for submissions made after the deadline, up to a maximum of 10 days. Submissions after this point will not be accepted unless an extension has been agreed in advance. You may request an extension by completing a form which is available on the VLE and returned to divinity@london.ac.uk.

Penalty for exceeding the word limit – Coursework and Dissertation

4.6

For coursework elements and the Dissertation there is a maximum word limit which includes footnotes but not the bibliography. If you exceed the word limit, we will reduce the mark you receive as follows:

Excess number of words over the word limit	Penalty applied
Up to and including 10%	5 marks deducted from original mark
More than 10% up to and including 20%	10 marks deducted from original mark
More than 20%	10 marks deducted from the original mark. The updated mark will be capped at a maximum of 40%.

Examinations

4.7

All examinations are time constrained.

4.8

Examinations take place in May each year.

Mitigating circumstances

4.9

If, for good reason, you are unable to complete the assessment in the year in which you register for a module you may apply for mitigating circumstances to be considered by completing a form which is available on the VLE. If accepted, you will be able to take the assessment during the next academic year without further payment.

5 Number of attempts permitted at an assessment

5.1

You have a maximum of three attempts at any element of assessment taken as part of the modules offered under these regulations, including the Dissertation.

5.2

If you fail to complete a module:

- any marks obtained will be carried forward;
- you will not be deemed to have made an attempt at any element of assessment which you failed to submit or did not attend;
- you should complete the module at a later date. Your next opportunity to do so will be one full year later. Unless there are mitigating circumstances, you will be required to pay a new module fee when re-registering on the module. Refer to our website for a full list of fees for this programme.

5.3

If you fail a module overall, you should resit any elements of assessment for which you obtained a mark of less than 40%. You will not be permitted to resit any assessment element you have passed.

Students with an effective date of registration of 30 November 2018 or earlier

5.4

If you have failed either Christian doctrine [DT1003] or Philosophy of religion [DT1004], you may choose to replace the module with Religion meaning and value [DT1150], Introduction to Islam [DT1155] or History of Christianity [DT2001-03], subject to any exclusion rules, as the version of the module that you failed has now been withdrawn.

5.5

Where you choose to replace either of these modules, you will be given three attempts at the new module.

The Dissertation module

5.6

If you fail your Dissertation module, you must re-enter for the Dissertation module, submitting a new Dissertation topic for each new attempt, up to the maximum number permitted. You will be required to pay a new module fee for each new attempt.

5.7

If you submit an approved proposal and, as a result of an approved application for additional consideration, are later unable to submit a final Dissertation during the same academic year, you may apply to defer the submission of your Dissertation. In this case, you must complete the deferred assessment application form which is available on the VLE. If your application is accepted, you may submit your dissertation during the following academic year without paying a further Dissertation module fee.

6 Progression within the programme

Performance based admissions

6.1

To enter the CertHE via the Performance based admission route, you must first register for and pass one FHEQ Level 4 module.

6.2

If you do not achieve a pass in the registered module you must reattempt the failed element/s of assessment, providing you have not exhausted all attempts and you are still within the maximum period of registration.

6.3

You will be permitted three attempts at each element of assessment for the module. If after using all attempts at assessment you have not achieved an overall pass, your registration will cease and you will not be admitted to the CertHE.

Fees in relation to assessments will apply as set out in the fee schedule.

Maximum periods of registration for each programme offered under these regulations are noted in the Programme Specification. You should plan accordingly to ensure that you complete your programme of study within this time.

If you have an effective date of registration of 30 November 2019 or later, it is strongly recommended that you register for Religion, meaning and value [DT1150] in your first year of study. You may register for other modules concurrently, subject to progression rules.

Any prerequisites are listed alongside the module in Appendix A.

- you already satisfy the entrance requirements for the degree/diploma.

6.5

If you are allowed to progress from the CertHE Divinity, you will be credited with the modules passed.

6.6

Previous attempts at the module assessments for the CertHE Divinity will count towards the number of attempts allowed for the same module of the BD or DipHE Divinity.

6.7

If you transfer to the BD or DipHE Divinity part way through the CertHE Divinity you will not normally receive the award of the CertHE.

Requirements to progress through the DipHE Divinity

6.8

You may not take more than two modules at Levels 5 and/or 6 unless you have either passed all four Level 4 modules, or three Level 4 modules and either DT2001-03 History of Christianity or DT2135 Christian doctrine, or are registered concurrently to complete any remaining Level 4 modules, subject to the maximum number of assessments permitted in 6.4. Please note that there may be some variation in the modules taken at Level 4 if you registered for the programme before 30 November 2018. Please see Appendix A for further details.

6.9

Prerequisites for each module are given in Appendix B. You must have passed the assessment for any prerequisite before you will be permitted to register for a module.

6.10

If you have registered for the DipHE Divinity you may progress to the BD provided that:

- you have been awarded the DipHE; or 6.13

Prerequisites for each module are given in Appendix D. You must have passed the assessment for any prerequisite before you will be permitted to register for a module.

6.14

To enter for the Dissertation you must either have passed at least eight modules, or have passed seven modules and be registered concurrently to resit an eighth module.

Progression from individual modules

6.15

If you achieve a pass mark of 40 or above in a Level 4 individual module you may apply to register for the CertHE Divinity programme.

6.16

If you already meet the entrance requirements for the BD/DipHE Divinity you may apply for entry onto the BD/DipHE.

6.17

The mark/s for your individual module/s will count towards your degree/diploma classification.

See Section 8 for information on the Transfer of registration.

7 Schemes of award

The date of award for the Bachelor of Divinity, DipHE Divinity and CertHE Divinity will be 1 August in the year of the last assessment that contributes to the award.

Bachelor of Divinity

7.1

The BD assessments are marked in line with the following scale:

Mark range	Degree class equivalent
70 and over	First Class Honours
60 – 69	Second Class Honours (Upper Division)
50 – 59	Second Class Honours (Lower Division)
40 – 49	Third Class Honours

7.2

Once the Board of Examiners decides that you are eligible for award of the degree, you will not be allowed to make any further attempts at failed module(s) or to substitute any failed modules with alternative modules.

7.3

The class of degree awarded is determined on the basis of the mean average of the ten best marks achieved in all modules of the programme. To receive a BD with a given classification, you will need to achieve a final mean average mark within the mark ranges shown at section 7.1.

7.4

Recognition of prior learning and credit transfer are taken into account when deciding the number of modules passed.

7.5

If you have been awarded RPL for up to four modules, your final degree classification will be calculated by discarding the marks of the modules for which you were awarded RPL and the two lowest marks and taking the mean average of the marks achieved across the rest of the modules, as follows:

- When eleven marks are taken into account, the final classification is calculated by taking the mean average of the nine best marks achieved.
- When ten marks are taken into account, the final classification is calculated by taking the mean average of the eight best marks achieved.
- When nine marks are taken into account, the final classification is calculated by taking the mean average of the seven best marks achieved.
- When eight marks are taken into account, the final classification is calculated by taking the mean average of the six best marks achieved.

7.6

All modules are weighted equally.

7.7

The Examiners may award a higher or lower class on the basis of your overall performance.

DipHE Divinity

7.8

You are required to have passed the summative assessment in a total of eight modules.

7.9

All modules are weighted equally.

7.10

Mark range	Certificate grading

Religion and ethics [DT2007-03]

Ethics is an important aspect of the teaching of all of the world’s major religions. In each case, attempting to live an ethical life is a key practical consequence of genuine religious belief. Each religion describes how to do this (e.g. ‘Love your neighbour as yourself’ in Christianity), and some give practical examples and suggest practices which help to develop virtue (e.g. the loving-kindness meditation in Buddhism). Various philosophical theories (e.g. utilitarianism) may be used to help believers to work out the best way to apply ethical teachings in particular situations, especially when the answer is by no means straightforward. Mistakes are therefore common and forgiveness and reconciliation may be necessary.

Religion and violence [DT3060-02]

Religiously infused violence has become a feature of life at the present time, and the relation of religion and violence has become a matter of considerable public debate. Critics of 'religion' accuse it of being the source and cause of violence, and members of different religious traditions, partly under this pressure, examine the way in which their sacred texts, history and present life contain not only actual violence in the name of God, but also symbolic and ritual violence that in some measure appear to validate further religious violence. This module addresses these and related issues in a reflective and analytic way.

- Violence in sacred texts
- Monotheism and violence
- Islam and violence

Religion and global politics [DT3045]

Religion plays an increasingly prominent role in our world today. Religion is central to political developments across the globe, ranging from presidential elections in the United States to Hindu nationalism in India, and from inter-state conflict to peace and reconciliation. In this module we will begin with the study of various models of how states structure their relationship with religion, such as the established church and the separation of church and state. We will then look at how the political motivations of religious people can shape a range of political issues, from the anti-apartheid movement of the late 20th century to terrorism today. Finally, we will take a fully global perspective to consider the roles of religions in large-scale issues of conflict, peace, and democratization.

Topics covered:

- Introduction to Religion and global politics

Section A

- Religion-state Relations
- Religion and state in Europe
- Religion and state in the United States
- Religion and state in India and China

- Religion and politics in a global city

Section C

Religion and science [DT3030]

This module aims to explore the multiple relationships between science and religion in the light of the cutting-edge developments in science and technology which are reshaping our lives. Key topics which will be explored include robotics, bioengineering and genetic modification, the prospects for human life-extension, the development of neurophysiological accounts of what is going on inside our brains and bodies when we meditate or pray, and the discussion about what 'life' is, why it has emerged, and where else we might expect to find it.

These cutting-edge topics will be securely rooted in an initial overview of the historical relations between religion and science and more specifically in an exploration of Ian Barbour's classic 'four types' of relationship: conflict, independence, dialogue and integration. The first half of the module will provide students with a clear grasp of the historical tensions and methodological differences between science and religion. The second half will look to extend this understanding by looking at a series of specific problems.

Topics covered:

Section A:

- The relations between religion and science
- Problematic models of these relations: new atheism and intelligent design

Section B:

- A key historical dispute: Galileo
- The idea of scientific method
- Cosmology and the Anthropic Principle
- Teleology and biology
- Neuroscience and the evolutionary psychology of religion
- Religion and technology 1: Robotics
- Religion and technology 2: The ethical implications of life extension
- Faith and the crossing of biological boundaries

Assessment: Forum participation (5%), a two thousand-word essay (45%) and a 2 hour unseen written examination (50%).
