Important information regarding the Programme Regulations

About this document

Last revised 8 February 2022

As a student registered with the University of London, you are governed by the current General Regulations and Programme Regulations associated with your programme of study. These Programme Regulations are designed and developed by the University of London.

In addition to Programme Regulations, you will have to abide by the General Regulations. These regulations apply to all University of London students and provide the rules governing registration and assessment on all programmes; they also indicate what you may expect on completion of your programme of study and how you may pursue a complaint, should that be necessary. Programme Regulations should be read in conjunction with the General Regulations.

The relevant General Regulations and the Programme Regulations relating to your registration with us are for the current year and not the year in which you initially registered.

On all matters where the regulations are to be interpreted, or are silent, our decision will be final.

Further information about your programme of study is outlined in the Programme Specification which is available on the relevant Courses page of the website. The Programme Specification gives a broad overview of the structure and content of the programme as well as the learning outcomes students will achieve as they progress.

If you have a query about any of the programme information provided please contact us. You should use the ask a question button in the student portal.

Terminology

For the Postgraduate Certificate in Learning and Teaching, you should note the following language:

Blended Learning: A programme of study that is delivered by both face-to-face teaching and online delivery.

Module: Individual units of a programme are called modules. Each module is a self-contained, formally structured learning experience with a coherent and explicit set of learning outcomes and assessment criteria.

Participant: Those studying on the programme are referred to as participants. This is to acknowledge the wealth of experience individuals bring to the programme and to avoid confusion between 'participants' who are taking part in the programme and 'students' who they may be teaching whilst engaging with the programme.

Weighted assessment: Elements of assessment that receive a mark and are used in the calculation of overall module marks.

Throughout the Regulations, 'we' 'us' and 'our' mean the University of London; 'you' and 'your' mean the participant, or where applicable, all participants.

Changes to the Learning and Teaching in Higher Education Regulations 2021–2022

The assessment methods for Module 2: Enhancing learning, teaching and assessment, have been updated. The module weighting of assessment elements 1 and 2 has also been adjusted from 0:100 to 20:80. See Section 4 for more details.

The Assessment criteria for Module 2, element 1 have been updated in Appendix B.

The guidance for content included in the word count for assessments has been updated in Section 4.

The provision of recognition of prior learning has been updated.

Guidance on compensation in assessment has been updated.

We do allow compensation for element 1 provided you have a minimum mark of 37%.

Taking assessments

Refer to the rules on assessment and assessment offences in the General Regulations.

4.1

Once you have registered for a module, you must take the assessments in line with the deadlines given on the VLE.

4.2

For weighted assessment elements, five of your marks for the element will be deducted if you deviate from the set word limits by more than 10%.

4.3

If you deviate from the set word limits, by more than 25%, the script will not be marked and the submission will be awarded a mark of zero.

The content within the main body of text comprises the overall word count, including in-text citations, references, quotes, footnotes, heading and sub-headings. The cover page, reference list and any appendices do not count towards the overall word count.

Further guidance can be found via the programme VLE.

Deferring assessment

If you encounter unforeseen circumstances beyond your control which mean that you are unable to complete assessment, you should refer to the guidance on mitigating circumstances.

4.4

It is not possible to defer assessment on this programme.

Deadlines for assessment

See the VLE for full details of all the assessment points, deadline dates and submission guidance.

4.5

Assessment elements must be submitted by the deadline dates given on the VLE.

4.6

If you miss a submission deadline you will be given a mark of zero for the assessment element and it will count as an attempt (unless you have submitted details of mitigating circumstance which we have approved).

Passing assessments

4.7

In order to pass a module, you must obtain an overall combined weighted mark of at least 52% from the two assessment elements, with a minimum of 37% in element 1 and 52% in element 2. A mark of 47% or below is usually (see regulation 4.11) a failing mark for assessment element 1 and assessment element 2.

4.8

To calculate your overall module mark, only the marks from weighted elements are used.

Number of attempts permitted at an element of assessment

4.9

The maximum number of attempts permitted for any element of assessment is two.

Resitting an element of assessment

If you are required to resit one or more elements of assessment you will have to pay the relevant module continuation fee.

4.10

You may resit any element of assessment that you have failed once. This will require you to re-register on the relevant module and pay a continuation fee.

4.11

It may be possible for you to proceed with a fail in assessment element 1 if the mark you receive for assessment element 1 is either 37% or 47% AND your overall combined weighted mark from the two assessment elements is at least 52%, this is called compensation.

Compensation is the process by which a Board of Examiners may decide that a strong performance by a student in one part of the assessment may be used as the basis for the award of credit in respect of marginal failure elsewhere in the assessment

4.12

If your mark for assessment element 1 is below 37% you will incur a fail of the overall module, even if your overall combined weighted mark from the two assessment elements is 52% or more.

4.13

You will fail a weighted element if the mark for the element is 47% or below, unless compensation is permitted. This then results in you failing the module.

4.14

If you fail an element at a second attempt, it is no longer possible for you to complete the required assessment for the programme, and your registration will cease.

4.15

You may not resit an element of assessment that you have passed.

5 Scheme of award

Qualification requirements

5.1

To be awarded the PGCert Learning and Teaching in Higher Education you must achieve an overall module mark of at least 52% in both modules.

Qualification classification

5.2

To calculate the final mark for the qualification, the marks for both modules are averaged with equal weighting and rounded to the nearest whole number.

Final mark = $\frac{(\text{module 1 mark} + \text{module 2 mark})}{2}$

5.3

To decide the final classification of the qualification, the following classification system is used:

Final Mark	Classification
80 – 100 per cent	Distinction
65 – 79 per cent	Merit
50 – 64 per cent	Pass
0 – 49 per cent	Fail

Date of award

5.4

The date of award will correspond to the year that the requirements for the qualification are satisfied.

Exit qualifications

5.5

There are no exit qualifications for this programme.

Appendix A – Syllabuses

Topics covered in each module may be subject to minor revision to ensure currency and relevance. Students will be advised of any changes in advance of their study. Syllabuses and topics covered were up-to-date at the time of publication; see module descriptors under the Structure tab on the website for further information and any updates.

Module 1 – Supporting learning, teaching and assessment

The aim of this module is to develop teachers in higher education to support teaching, learning, assessment and feedback to enable student learning and progress. The module will explore online, face-to-face and/or blended modes of delivery and participants will gain first-hand experience of online pedagogy as learners themselves.

This module provides a broad overview of the key principles which underpin professional education and explores relevance to practice in higher teaching and support of learning. The module consists of four complementary themes that focus on student learning and the implications of these for the planning and undertaking of teaching, assessment and feedback. Crucial to professional enhancement are critical reflection and evaluation and the application of these to practice, so these form the final theme.

From the start, participants will be encouraged to identify their individual learning needs within each theme and personalise their learning to their needs and contexts. Thus, they will identify, from their own experience and current teaching responsibilities, areas in which they can implement and manage change, to the benefit of their students.

As an introductory module, we will consider the journey of moving from teaching as transmission, to teaching as facilitation, to teaching as managing student learning, to helping students manage their own learning. We will concentrate in detail on each of the following themes:

1. How students learn
2. Approaches to teaching and supporting learning
3. Assessing learning and giving feedback
4. Evaluating and improving practice through reflection and peer learning

Module 1 Learning outcomes

By the end of this module participants will be able to:

1. Inform their practice with a critical understanding of theories of learning;
2. Compare and contrast different teaching methods based on online and face to face delivery, in light of associated quality assurance standards, and make and justify a choice of methods;
3. Develop and critically review marking and feedback that effectively supports student learning, accounting for diverse learning needs;
4. Reflect on and critically analyse their individual learning experience, teaching practice and professional values in relation to their own effectiveness in supporting teaching and learning practice within their own discipline.

Assessment:

- An online activities review (1,000 words, +/-10% excluding references and appendices)
- A reflective narrative (4,000 words, +/-10% excluding references and appendices)

Module 2 – Enhancing learning, teaching and assessment

The aim of this module is to enable participants to develop as teachers in higher education; to enhance and innovate in online, face-to-face and/or blended learning and anticipate future higher education contexts.

The Enhancing learning, teaching and assessment module will focus on current and future learning and teaching scenarios, for example, new face-to-face pedagogic strategies and digital-based learning and teaching approaches. The module will provide participants with a theory and research-informed and practically grounded framework to identify ways in which learning and teaching can be both enhanced and developed innovatively in their own professional contexts.

Participants will then be supported to analyse their context drawing on current trends and contemporary thinking in higher education and identifying areas for development and enhancement. They will develop a contextually informed development plan which they will present for assessment. Irrespective of the development topic a participant selects as an individual, they will work together in professional learning groups. Broad themes and topics explored in this module will to support the plan and include:

1. Higher Education contexts and values and implications for your practice
2. Curriculum design, assessment and planning
3. Enabling student engagement and completion

Module 2 Learning outcomes

By the end of this module participants will be able to:

1. Apply advanced theoretical knowledge to teaching, learning and assessment practice in higher education;
2. Analyse options and develop plans for enhancing teaching, learning and assessment drawing on their own present and future contexts;
3. Critically reflect on their own practice and professional values, within professional learning groups;
4. Develop and write a plan for future enhanced work in teaching, learning and assessment that takes account of higher education contexts and trends.

Assessment:

- A multimedia presentation outlining the topic and scope for your proposed project plan and accompanying summary of 1,000 words (+/-10% excluding references and appendices)
- A plan for enhancing teaching and learning practice of 4,000 words (+/-10% excluding references and appendices)

Appendix B – Assessment Criteria
